The immense quota of considerably more than a half million dollars was prescribed as Medina county's duty to the national government in the Liberty Loan campaign that ended last Saturday night. This duty was cheerfully met, and discharged in brimming measure.

Next Tuesday, Nov. 6, another duty will confront the county—this time to the state, but of no less importance than the other one so marvelously performed, that is to align itself in full force in favor of prohibition for Ohio.

There are innumerable reasons why the saloons should be voted out of existence, but not a single valid excuse for their being retained. It has never been possible to regulate the saloon, and it never will be. The "personal liberty" wall is bunk, emanating as it does only from the saloon keepers and others who draw easy and large profits from the open traffic.

To dwell upon the saloons as a curse and mace to civilization, or to refer to the thousands of human lives that have been and are being sacrificed yearly in consequence, is needless. Many who read these lines will recall with sadness what the saloons have cost them. They will recall the loved ones buried years ago because of the curse of drink. From graves forgotten victims of the open "personal liberty" saloon stretch forth musty hands to bear witness to its unrelenting toll.

To vote the saloons out of Ohio will no more injure the state than would a pest-house be injured by fumigation.

Recognizing the right of every voter to decide the question for himself, the Sentinel urges the adoption of the dry amendment to the state constitution, and earnestly advises the voters of Medina county to roll up a poll in its favor next Tuesday, that in harmony with the wonderful work for the nation accomplished during the last few weeks, will emphasize that the sentiment here is no less moral than fiscal.

THE RED CROSS

Medina Chapter, A. R. C., received its first official visit on Thursday, the 25th, from District Supervisor Mrs. Harrison Ewing of Cleveland. It is a matter of much regret that she came on two hours notice, and there was not time to summon Auxiliary directors and workers. The meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. Ainsworth. Reports were called for from the various committees and departments and were supplemented by most helpful comment from Mrs. Ewing, who is thoroughly conversant with Red Cross work and needs. Her own personality having the generous quality of giving off dynamics in chunks and never seeming to miss them.

After the meeting the knitting department was inspected and the work was unreservedly approved. The Sewing department had a thorough going over next and was approved, both as to quality and quantity of the work, with some directions for future guidance. The finished work on hand was ordered shipped at once. The organization and spirit of Medina Chapter was also remarked upon and commended.

Mrs. Ewing's next visit, in about a month, will have a week's previous notice. Every Red Cross chapter in her district should be stimulated by her businesslike comment and patriotic enthusiasm. A woman said to her after the sinking of a cargo of Red Cross supplies by a submarine: "I don't think I want to knit if that is to be the fate of my work." Mrs. Ewing's reply was, "Don't think, KNIT."

Knitters have responded so readily in the last two weeks, that Medina is again short on yarn for our own work. A large order placed the first of October will certainly be delivered soon. There is no lack of sewing, and it is hoped the attendance at this department may be increased, since the canning, house cleaning, and Festa are crossed off.

At the dark, drizzly hour these columns must go to press, no report can be given out (except the weather report), concerning the Festa. The "meatless, sweetless, heatless," sunless discomforts of Conservation week, have been lost in the radiance of Red Cross sacrifice and generosity.

In the main the business houses of Medina have made their own interests entirely secondary, and have boosted for Red Cross. Individual instances may not be cited, but our slogan, "Give and grin," has been well observed: Lodges, clubs, churches, schools, bands and just plain citizens and hope-to-be citizens, all fell into line any old how, and we hope we turn the trick, and keep still for a while.

Not that there is to be any rest—O dear, no! not in time of War.

The next thing is Christmas packets for the soldiers and sailors.

From the Red Cross Bulletin: The main features of the War Council, Christmas plans for soldiers and sailors will be the distribution of about a million Christmas packets, and the erection of a Christmas tree at each cantonment, it has been decided after several conferences. Allotment of the number of packets to be provided from each division is based partly on the number of soldiers drawn from each section, and partly on the degree of development in the respective divisions. Each Chapter is to be notified by its division manager of the number of packets it is expected to provide. Chapters will be requested to turn over these packets to the division warehouses for distribution, and not direct to any particular camp or cantonment.

A list of items recommended for Red Cross Christmas packets, and the proper method of wrapping them, were given in Red Cross Bulletin No. 17, and also in leaflet A. R. C. 404. It is expected that money for Christmas packages will be raised by Chapters, through contributions by individuals to this purpose.

Medina's quota of Christmas packets for soldiers and sailors may be assured with some certainty; she has given evidence, through Liberty Loan and Red Cross activities, that she is thoroughly awake to this war cry. Every household in this dear, little old town, will gladly share its own Christmas with those homesick boys. "Keep the home fires burning, While your hearts are yearning; Though your lads are far away, They dream of home."

There's a silver lining, Through the dark cloud shining, Turn the dark cloud inside out, 'Till the boys come home."

(American Army Songs.)

Mrs. Blake Hendrickson is the local chairman of this department.

A circular letter from Director F. E. Abbott, Cleveland, dated October 23, has the following to all chapters of the Lake Division:

Has YOUR Chapter picked its delegation to represent you at one of the series of Red Cross district conferences arranged by the Lake Division? As announced in the Lake Division News for the week of Oct. 22, these conferences begin soon, Tuesday, Oct. 30, so your Chapter should make arrangements at once to be represented. Here are the places of meeting:

Tuesday, Oct. 30, Indianapolis, Hotel Claypool.

Wednesday, Oct. 31, Cincinnati, Hotel Sinton.

Thursday, Nov. 1, Columbus, Chamber of Commerce.

Friday, Nov. 2, Toledo, LaSalle & Koch's Assembly Hall.

Friday, Nov. 9, Cleveland, Engineers Auditorium.

We advise you to write to hotels in these cities for accommodations. You will be welcome at whichever meeting you can most easily reach. These conferences should attract delegations from every chapter and auxiliary which wishes to be in the "live, wide awake class."

Keep in mind the big Davison-Gibson meeting in Cleveland, Nov. 10.

Everyone interested in French Relief, as undertaken by some of our townswomen, is urged to be present at a meeting, on Monday, Nov. 5, at one o'clock in the Congregational church. Practical work will be begun at once. Please bring any partly worn garments, that are clean and may be made wearable, also remnants which may be used in making garments, for very small children. Please also be prepared with sewing utensils.

The Medina County Draft Board is in receipt of the following communication from the Adjutant General's office at Washington, which is self-explanatory:

Local Board of Medina County, Wadsworth, O.

Referring to your letter of Oct. 8, addressed to the Provost Marshal, relative to Ford Cannon, who enlisted in Co. A, 145th Infantry, after he was called for physical examination, I have the honor to inform you that the Commanding General of the 37th Division has today been directed to discharge the man and instruct him to report to his local board.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) C. B. CONLEY.

War Department, Adj. General Washington, D. C.

The County Draft Board Monday sent Joe Mallory, colored, of Litchfield, to Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, and transferred Luther Partin, colored, to North Carolina, his former home.

COMMUNICATION

A story is being circulated by a few evil-minded back-biting friends of my opponent to the effect that one night recently Mr. Hange and myself went to a certain barn to arrest a man and woman who were supposed to be there and that Mr. Hange brought the man down from a high hay loft to a lower one and told me to hold him while he went after the woman and that I let him go, which is absolutely false.

The facts of the case are that it was Mr. Hange's job as constable and that I was taken along by Mr. Hange only as a witness to what we might find in the barn, which was advised by Mr. Underwood. There was no reason why Mr. Hange could not see his man walk away as well as I did and I was surprised that he (Hange) said nothing to him about stopping or staying. After he had been gone probably long enough to get home (where he went and where Mr. Hange found him the next morning) Mr. Hange said to me, "Where is John? Don't let him get away Sedgwick."

I write this by request of friends and in justice to myself.

A 90 H. P. Heater

If heating power were reckoned by horse-power, the Estate Triple Effect would be rated 90 H. P.—and then some.

For this big, handsome natural gas heater, with its immense radiating surface, its powerful reflectors, its wonderful hot-air circulating system, marks the very limit of heating power. It is as far ahead of the ordinary natural gas heater as the long, low, racy motor-car models are ahead of the clumsy, one-cylinder affairs of seven and eight years ago.

THE Estate Triple Effect

is the most notable—most popular improvement in heating stoves that has ever been made. It works like a furnace because it's built like one; does more and better work than any furnace, and costs about half as much to maintain.

Of course there are lots of limitations. But no stove can be a TRIPLE EFFECT unless it's an ESTATE—the exclusive features of the original and only genuine ESTATE TRIPLE EFFECT are patented.
